

It is time to place your orders. We have begun receiving orders for the June and September harvests. Many of you have introduced your friends and family to our beef, which has been an enormous help.

Thank you. We greatly appreciate your continued support in growing our customer base.

We are maintaining our 2009 prices. If it would be more convenient to make your deposit in a couple payments please contact us and we will be glad to work with you.

Order Form
Contact Us

Photo: Spots gets a good scratch

Sweet Grass Farm

Wagyu Beef From Lopez Island | March 2010

Brigit and I stay in shape through the winter by putting straw bedding out for the cows on a daily basis. We also use this time to improve our bond with the herd.

Photo: Making friends

Our over-winter areas for the cattle have been a huge success. The deep straw bedding process has enabled us to protect the environment while caring for the cows. The resulting compost is a valuable fertility boost to the whole farm.

We hope the fields will be ready for the cows to start grazing very soon, though the cows seem content to enjoy the room service.

Photo: Room Service

An early Spring. The grass is growing. The frogs began singing on the evening February 4th and hit full volume by the 12th. They are so loud! I like to sit on the porch before bed and listen, occasionally picking up the tread of the rhythm. The first red wing blackbirds appeared around the marsh on the 14th. A rain squall came through on Sunday and brought one of the most vivid double rainbows I've ever seen. I love spring in all its unpredictable moods as illustrated by this photo from Spring 2009.

Photo: Feeding on March 8th, 2009

Our cows begin calving in mid April. It is usually warm with plenty of fresh grass; a great time to be born.

Photo: New calves 2009

The canary grass has grown up through 18" of water in the marsh and is ready for sun and warm weather. We shall see how the lion of March roars in.

Photo: Trumpeter Swans on marsh, Feb. 26 2010. 32 Swans this year!

Look for up coming farm news and photos of the spring calves.
Thanks for helping us grow Sweet Grass Farm.